HAVE WE FORGOTTEN THAT PEOPLE NEED INSURANCE?

▪ During the hustle of our modern marketing age, have we placed insurance into the hopper of "hard sell"? Are we classifying our product with TV sets, new cars, air conditioners and other luxury items of life. ▪ If so, are we overlooking the strongest appeal that insurance has . . . that it is a basic necessity of family living. Consider the unavoidable expenses of clean-up fund . . . family existence . . . education of children . . . retirement! ▪ These are the needs that only insurance can meet. At Federal, we meet this challenge by tailoring our programs to meet these basic needs.

Is Your Average Sale Over $10,000?

(NOT TERM—BUT SOLID LIFE SALES)

If it isn't then you should take a look at Standard's Retirement Equity Accumulation Program which makes use of savings and family protection (Guaranteed Dollars) along with an equity investment (Variable Dollars) in Mutual Funds. No term insurance in this program. During the past year this unique program enjoyed an average size sale of over $10,000—and this was solid insurance—of the ordinary life and higher premium classes. Let R.E.A.P. carry you to new heights. Write me today for full details.

"How much is enough for advertising?"

JOHN R. SARGENT, partner in the nationally-known management consultant firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget, points the way toward solution of one of top management's knottiest problems.

"Good sales management generally knows the crucial sales problems faced by each one of its products. Through good advertising advice plus experience, trial and error, and some judicious advertising testing, sales management also can come to have a good understanding of what advertising can and cannot do.

"At the same time, sales management should be sure to take a careful look at what each of the other sales producing factors are supposed to be doing.

"If all these elements of the sales plan are carefully evaluated, and the key assumptions are checked regularly, you're off to a strong start in making sure that your advertising appropriations are neither so high as to be wasteful, nor so low as to penalize your marketing effort."
